Funding Opportunities for Aging

Sponsor	Grant/Program	Description	Deadline
Retirement Research Foundation	Research Grants	Funds research that seeks to identify interventions, policies and practices to improve the well-being of older adults and/or their caregivers . Preference is given to projects aimed at generating practical knowledge and guidance that can be used by advocates, policy-makers, providers, and the aging network.	LOI due 5/1/24 (additional deadlines: 11/1/24, 2/1/25)
NIH	Research Infrastructure Development for Interdisciplinary Aging Studies (R61/R33)	Invites applications that propose to develop novel research infrastructure that will advance the science of aging in specific areas requiring interdisciplinary partnerships or collaborations. It is expected that applications funded through this FOA will not only develop a research infrastructure, but also produce new knowledge, tools, or other tangible scientific results arising from specific research projects that are enabled by the new research infrastructure.	6/3/24 (additional deadlines: 10/4/24, 6/2/25)
PCORI	Broad Pragmatic Studies Funding Announcement	Seeks to fund applications for high-quality patient-centered comparative clinical effectiveness research (CER) projects. Several topical areas of interest, including functional sensory impairment in older adults. Areas of interest include studies proposing to compare	LOI due 6/4/24 (full app due 9/4/24) different screening and follow-up strategies to promote early detection and management strategies, both of which address important decisional dilemmas faced by patients and their caregivers. Interventions in diverse healthcare settings and within underserved populations experiencing disparities in both access and in outcomes are also especially encouraged.

Borchard Foundation Center on Law & Aging	Academic Research Grant	Aims to further scholarship about new or improved public policies, laws, and/or programs that will enhance the quality of life for older adults. Scholars in the fields of health, law, medicine, economics, gerontology, psychology, and sociology have been awarded grants through this program.	Anticipated October 2024
American Federation for Aging Research	Funding Opportunities	Many grant programs from small to large, training grants, career development grants, conference grants, and more. In general, for most of their biology of aging grant programs, they look for research projects that focus on understanding the basic mechanisms of aging. Projects investigating age-related diseases may be of interest as well, as long as they are approached from the point of view of illuminating how basic aging processes are involved in disease outcomes.	Various deadlines
